Hazelwood history book available

A hard-cover coffee table book, presenting a pictorial history of the Hazelwood Power Station and Mine over the last 52 years, is now available to the public.

The book was published as a gift for Hazelwood employees. However, Hazelwood has since received numerous requests for copies from former employees and others interested in the business.

Hazelwood Asset Manager, Tony Innocenzi, said because of the interest, the company had asked the publisher to make the book available for public purchase at cost price.

“The book has been very well received by everyone with many people saying how much they have enjoyed the photographs and information of the period from construction to closure,” Mr Innocenzi said.

For those who don't wish to purchase a copy, Hazelwood provided copies to all the Latrobe Valley libraries as well as making copies available at the Latrobe City Council Headquarters and the Latrobe Valley Authority.

The community can purchase a copy from Momento for $75* (normal retail price is $137) plus delivery by visiting www.momento.com.au/hazelwood

“We are pleased there are so many people interested in having a piece of Hazelwood history,” Mr Innocenzi said.
