

Bravura Solutions Office Fitout

The Brief

Bravura Solutions is a leading global supplier of software and professional services for superannuation, pension, life insurance, investment, private wealth, funds administration and financial messaging, employing over 1,000 people across 12 offices. When Bravura Solutions needed a technology partner for their new Melbourne office, ENGIE was selected as the successful integrator. The fitout located at 15 William Street required a simple and standardised solution that caters for user wireless presentation as well as Skype for Business video conferencing. The project required technology solutions to a number of spaces including Boardrooms, Video Conferencing, Meeting Rooms, Internal Meeting Rooms, Scrum and Breakout Spaces.

The Solution

The consolidated technology mix consisted of LG displays with built-in wireless presentation and Logitech Skype for Business solutions. Both displays and cameras deployed are capable of 4K (UHD) resolutions, enabling Bravura Solutions to maximise the quality of their visual communications. The two Boardrooms were provided with large format flat panel displays and high quality table microphones in order to pick up participants' voices during calls. The user interface across the project was standardised utilizing the Logitech SmartDock solution which allows users to control calls with a familiar and easy to use touch screen display located on the Meeting Room tables. In addition to the traditional meeting spaces within the project, three stand-up Scrum areas were provided with display technology and wireless presentation enabling the Bravura Solutions Team to engage in the Agile work methodology.

The Benefit

ENGIE was able to deliver a technology fitout that met the requirements of Bravura Solutions on time and within budget. The deployed solution enhances user adoption due to the simplicity and ease of use, as well as providing a standardised fleet of equipment for improved maintenance efficiencies. This project encourages collaboration between Bravura Solutions within their new Melbourne office as well as colleagues and clients across various global locations. The functional and aesthetically pleasing audio visual equipment provided by ENGIE allows the Bravura Solutions team to engage in a highly efficient work environment.
